Classroom-based training sessions to develop the knowledge and theoretical understandings required to work in the field. Classroom settings will ensure full access to computers, internet, whiteboards, workbooks and textbooks.

Reasonable Adjustment

Sydney College has policies that include reasonable adjustment and access and equity principles. Reasonable adjustment will be provided for participants with special learning needs (such as a disability or learning difficulty) according to the nature of the learning need. Evidence collection can be adjusted to suit individual student needs if required and will be endorsed by the Academic Manager/Program Coordinator, and student.

Reasonable adjustments are made to ensure that the participant is not presented with artificial barriers to demonstrating achievement in the program of study. Reasonable adjustments may include the use of adaptive technology, educational support, and alternative methods of assessment such as oral assessment.

The learning need that forms the basis of any adjustment to the training program will be identified and appropriate strategies will be agreed with the student. Any adjustments will be recorded in the student file and will not compromise the competency standard. The program may be organised/formatted around a combination of approaches including: RPL/RCC; classroom training; in class practical sessions; National recognition; or a combination of these.

Issuing the Statement of Attainment

In the case where a student decides to withdraw from the course at any stage, Sydney College will issue a Statement of Attainment for units of competency completed as partial completion of their enrolled course within 30 days of the withdrawal approval.

Self-paced/individual learning

This includes independent learning tasks which will include weekly learning tasks which the trainer will assign to each student group to be completed at their own pace. The task may come out direct from the student workbook or through the e-learning student portal. It aims to help the learner to learn at their own pace and take control of their learning while the trainer's role is to facilitate learning and provide support through posting discussion questions based on the learning task content.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)/Credit Transfer

Students may be eligible for course credit as a result of previous study or recognition of a competency currently held. The granting of course credit means that students do not have to complete part of the course because of existing qualifications or statements of attainment.

Recognition of Prior Learning is available for all courses and all students are offered the opportunity to participate in RPL upon enrolment. A streamlined RPL process has been developed which requires the student to make a self-assessment of their skills, participate in an interview with an assessor, provide documentary evidence and demonstrate skills, knowledge and experience.

For further information about course credit and/or RPL, including applicable fees and how to apply, please contact our office.

National Recognition

Applicants for National Recognition must make an appointment with the Academic Manager to which they need to bring their transcript, USI and ID. The Academic Manager will check the Award or Statement of Attainment and grant National Recognition for identical units that have been identified as being completed at another Registered Training Organisation. Granting of National Recognition is then recorded as a unit outcome in the students file. Student's individual training plans will be adjusted to reflect any National Recognition granted. Students may use our RTO appeal procedures if dissatisfied with the outcome of their National Recognition applications.
